Haven;t heard them. Do you know of anyone who has plans available? At some point in my life i would be very interested in building a horn loaded speaker based on a lowther driver, and the TP1 may be the way to go. IMHO, lowther drivers are so individually idosyncratic that i would probbaly buy the drivers first, measure them and then design the horn dimensions for them. however, the TP1s may just blow my mind. I used to think multi driver systems would induce coloration till i heard my klipschorns...seriously, with 3 horns i don;t have any problems at all. They sound just fine to me. Wish i could hear the Tp1s! Anyone near oklahoma have a pair?-akhilesh
