Gentlemen, I have ordered a pair of Fostex speakers to build a simple bass reflex cabinet (as per suggestions from the reccemmonded speaker from Decware web site---but in the search for the never to be satisfied got to be a better something serach--I went to the fostex.com site and found there the drawings for the same drive applied to a rather complex but very interesting back loaded horn cabinet---both use the same full range driver---one is quite simple in the construction of the cabinet---the horn is a cabinet builders work of art!!!! My questions are more to the point ---what would be the differences in the pwoer needed and the sound?? I think both also can add a tweeter for a two way also----Jim
