I think I'd be pretty happy with 30Hz too. Maybe I'll try putting a high pass filter at 30Hz one day on my sub and see if I notice any difference with music, but I think my room will gain so much on the low end anyway making the experiment not worthwhile. It means the basshorn will have gain on the low end too though :DHere are the inputs:Let me know if you can come up with a better folding scheme!Adrian
