Subject: Re: My 30hz basshorn with 2226h Posted by Murilo on Fri, 09 Apr 2004 14:41:36 GMT View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I would construct the horn first, listen to it and only later decide if the extra 15 dB are really wanted. You may be happy without the 350 w amp :)And with such a big enclosure, don't forget about bracing...In fact it doesn't seem big at all if I compare against my 2k litter space :)