

---

Subject: Re: Paragraph one, true, paragraph two.....
Posted by BillEpstein on Thu, 05 May 2005 20:16:10 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

.....I insist it's not opinion if it's objective reality and in the realm of the Five Senses, everyone's individual reality is objective reality. We all have 4 taste buds. Mine is more sensitive to salt. This meatball is salty. Yours isn't. The shape of my ears (waddya call the part you can see?) is more, much more important than the shape of the horn I'm listening to in establishing my reality. And the way MY brain processes sound is even more important. But there is a FINITE set of reality just as there is a FINITE number of audio manufacturer's, Redundancies are cleaned away by the Marketplace. We are all, however extremely subject to peer pressure which is another determinant of individual objective reality. Of course, you ask, if this were true, are there any Subjectivities?

---