

---

Subject: Issues about venting back chamber?

Posted by Adrian Mack on Sun, 23 May 2004 01:17:17 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Just wondering why more people don't vent the rear chambers on their subwoofer basshorns - seems like an acceptable way to get more bass extension and lower excursion than with sealed back/chamber? Is there a problem or drawback with venting it? I'm considering doing it myself, any comments on this idea are very appreciated. Adrian

---