Yep, that's the movie. Considering the standard of Auzzie movies at the time, and the inexperience of a young Ken Shorter, this movie was excellent. In keeping with "the best mechanic has the worst car", I don't even have a decent home stereo!! My system is the computer system - a couple of home-made 4" + dome tweeter satellites, with a 10" ported sub occupying the entire area under my desk (not very deep to allow legroom), powered by 2x 15W + 1x 80W home made power amps mounted in the sub cabinet. Whole system cost very little, but sounds great cranked. Cheers Graeme
