
Subject: Re: Oh, yeah, this is costing me serious $$$$
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 11 Jul 2004 20:20:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'm thinking that a neat way to do this might be to put the drivers in the wall of your listening room. Remove the sheetrock, install MDF or plywood instead, apply the finish to suit, and mount the drivers and an appropriate grille. The really avant-garde will make this an exercise in blending the aesthetics and acoustics, designing in soffits and room treatments into the decor, making the grilles using fine art on thin porous membranes with the slightest rise in HF to cover the attenuation that might result.
