Subject: T36 Cerwin Vega "Earthquake" bins
Posted by jbarlow on Thu, 12 Aug 2004 18:10:35 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Greetings everyone, I recently purchased 2 Cerwin Vega "Earthquake" T36 bass bins in goodcondition. They look great for their age but they don't sound too hot. I've tried crossoverat 100, 120 and 150 and they sound real woody at any crossover freq. The original woofers areused but they don't sound blown, just unmusical. Sounds like the box, real woody, hollow sound.Maybe some bracing is needed? Does any of you have experience with these? If I can't dosomething about the nasty hollow boom boom sound, these are probably relegated to the dumpster.Thanks for any suggestions. Jeff