Most of you are probably familiar with Martin King and his work on tapered quarter wave pipes. But you may not know that his recent interest has been on horns, and he's really done some excellent work. If you haven't done so already, I highly recommend that you follow the link below and see Martin King's Horn Theory "article." I put the word "article" in quotes because that's what Martin titled it. It's more like a nine-part treatise.
