In the future living room I want great speakers - I want horns. My wife hates boxes - so I figured a solid wooden sallad bowl type of midrange/tweeter - pretty yes?? But then I run into trouble. I need an as small as possible woofer solution. I see that the Kappa 10 pro only needs about 10 litres (eminence website). Forced to comprimise I am more keen on high efficiency that great bass extension. A 40 Hz -6db point would be great, I can live with anything that gives some output below 50 Hz. Cornerhorn possible, at least 3 feet available in all corners. +96DB/1W desired.Driver suggestions greatly appreciated.Thanks,Roland
