

---

Subject: Last question, I promise! (I'm lying)

Posted by Floyd Andrews on Tue, 04 Jan 2005 00:40:48 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Is there a sonic penalty to be paid for using an adaptor to attach a 1" mouth compression driver to a 2" throat horn? I've got the 1" Altec 902 drivers, and a pair of 1" to 2" adaptors, and now I'm looking at horns. I'd like to try crossing over at a frequency somewhere between 500-800, which means 2" throat horns, from what I've seen. What say you all?

---