I too value the reverberant field. It is always exciting and brings on great anticipation approaching the listening area when a speaker system with a strong reverberant soundfield is filling the air. Now tell me, how did those Pi-7's image from the sweet spot? Anyway close to the Maggie's by chance? I am not as familiar with these high efficiency horn type speakers but, I am interested in the Pi-7 because I have a near perfect room for these. And, they are affordably priced.
