Subject: Re: directivity

Posted by Wayne Parham on Wed, 01 Jun 2005 15:41:57 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have noticed the same thing. When there are few sound sources, some prefer creating their own ambience using reflections. When you have more sound sources, you can do a better job of recreating the ambience of the recording environment, using front side and rear channels. Making speakers "disappear"