Subject: Jbl compression driver question Posted by Russellc on Wed, 01 Jun 2005 16:53:59 GMT View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello, I have the JBL 2425H compression drivers, and like many have the "bug screens" in place. Unlike my altec drivers, who just put the piece of screen behind a cardboard spacer/gasket, they are actually pressed into the output "hole". Short of cutting them out with an exacto blade, how are these little devils removed?thanks, Russellc

```
Page 1 of 1 ---- Generated from AudioRoundTable.com
```