
Subject: Re: Jbl compression driver question
Posted by Earl Geddes on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 16:54:30 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Cutting them is usually the only way - not ideal. FYI, I did a study of these things and in general you don't want them. They really do have a substantial effect on the output. I delete them in my designs. But don't forget that even the smallest particle down one of these and into the gap and it is ruined. So remove the screen at your own peril.
