

---

Subject: Re: Updated the crossovers on my K-orns to spec

Posted by akhilesh on Mon, 02 Jan 2006 17:09:47 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Hi Dave, Yeah. I love them cos they are stock 1978's, and it's like owning a classic. (alnico magnets, etc) But after the crossover update (i wouldn't call it an upgrade, just an update since they are basically performing to original spec), I can actually hear what Paul klipsch heard when he passed these. BTW, I heard a rumor someplace that these were voiced with a 2a3 amp. I am using a cheap chinese BEZ amp 2a3, with a 6j7 driver tube. The sound is very nice. I also have a dynaco st35 clone that I will switch...that's an 18 watter BUt frankly, 3.5 watts is WAYYY more than i need, cos that gives me upto about 108 db, and i only listen at 85-90 db in my music room. They do sound a lot cleaner after the crossovers were rebuilt. Bob Crites did a great job, and is reasonable. I feel lucky to have found these khorns about 4 years ago, in basically mint condition, single owner. The guy couldn't sleep, because he had owned them since 1978, and had listened to them for 20+ years. I assured him they would be in good hands. These are great speakers. no other word for it. Great. What an awesome and elegant design. Love em. -akhilesh

---