I noticed the latest PE sales flyer includes four Eminence drivers that are "custom manufactured by Eminence for an American pro sound speaker cabinet manufacturer". The 15", 12", and 10" seem to combine features of the Alpha and Beta drivers. The 8" has exactly the same published specs as the Beta 8, and it's offered for $36, vs PE's regular price of $48.49 for that driver. Looks like it would be a good midrange in a three way Eminence system, with an F3 of about 120 in a 0.4 cu ft sealed box. Any opinions?
