Subject: Re: eminence beta12CX
Posted by hurdy_gurdyman on Fri, 20 Jan 2006 19:12:54 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Here's a few of places to find some real traditional stuff.http://www.greenlinnet.com/http://www.rounder.com/http://www.fellside.com/There were some more I was thinking of, but they seem to have gone under.A Thistle and Shamrock is a good place to hear celtic type folk music. Another NPR show is The Folk Sampler, with more Appalachian type and other non-Celtic music. I have also heard Celtic Connections and Our Front Porch, which are available on some NPR stations.I know a lot of sites with lyrics, but not so many with recordings for sale. I usually look up individual artists and order from whatever they have available. Some of these people are pretty obscure and can't be found on most record sales inventory.I sugest going to a few folk/bluegrass/celtic festivals and get an idea of what's happening in this type of music to get some ideas. Besides, the live acoustic jams are great!Dave