I recently came into possesion of a pair of goldenvoice speakers ,obviously from an old console stereo,and was looking for info other than the 8ohms stamped on the back to build a proper set of enclosures for them.They consist of 10" woofers 4"mids and 3.5"tweeters.The only numbers availible on the speakers are 10" woofer 50d60191b01,and the tweeter "100 ohm" 50d63543a07,the mid has no numbers just goldenvoice stamped across the back.These speakers do not have the large round magnets but rather a cylinder shaped one enclosed by a square metal box with "aluminim foil" on the sides covering the voice coil area.
