The 300b section at Walton's is an excellent presentation.You may want to cross-reference it to the tube forum. I think people sometimes get stuck in the same forumsall the time. :-) The Voigt pipes look like a novelty but that'swhat attracted me to them... their sculptural appeal.The Full Range Driver site has more on this as does thet-line discussion. There was a neat open baffle treatment I ran across todaybut I'll put that up separate.
