

---

Subject: Ane i wonder where the gainclone fits in?

Posted by roncla on Thu, 05 Aug 2004 16:10:05 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Having been a tube head and a SS type for many years (dual personalities) i find the gainclone (GC) to be a sort of middle between the two. It has the greater control of the SS but a more gentle but more defined sound of tubes. After running my 206e horns with 3 different amps PP6Bq5, marantz 2230 and the GC i still find the best sound from the chip amp. Not to say that if i ran the horns on a 10K$ SET that it may not sound better but i dont have that kind of money. Ane with the efficiency of the horns a 200 watt SS is just at idle for normal listening. ron

---