

---

Subject: Re: Lowther / Fostex

Posted by akhilesh on Sat, 14 Aug 2004 11:05:02 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Agreed. In a Bass reflex box, I would create a box specially for the driver. If the parameters of different drivers are "in the ballpark", then one can simply adjust the port tuning & keep volume the same. But BR boxes are VERY sensitive to parameters, and small differences in volume and port tuning can be heard. I have no experience with the TL or horn boxes. My feeling is a horn SHOULD be sensitive, but I honestly don't know. I also feel a TL should be sensitive, since my understanding of it, (very superficial) is that at the bass frequencies, they act very similar to BR boxes. Maybe Martin & Wayne can elaborate!-akhilesh

---