Subject: Re: A small corner horn
Posted by NUMA on Tue, 14 Sep 2004 17:06:07 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yeah, I actually have used a variety of bass augmentation methods. I have used a sealed 10" sub amped, and it did well. Ed actually makes a bass augmenter that you might want to look at. (I have one). I would advise STRONGLY to FIRST get them in your room and listen and try to see how much augmentation you want/need. All corner horns are room sensitive. That's life. My room is quite big with a 15' ceiling. Kris