There's two things we don't have around here: Frye's anda discount good quality hifi place.Did I mention snooty hifi stores with the likes of Bang and Olafson and other 'good taste' stuff?If Best Buy can put something on the shelf besidesthe usual Yamaha and Sony and Pioneer and go to Denon and Nakamichi at good rates, I'm willing but not necessarily ready to pick up a box and go.I like local stores that sell computer building partstoo but their margins on sales are just too high.Online sites have links to match the right right partsand there are numerous construction tips. So I'd like a Fryes' around here to fill that middle ground.
