You make some very good points. There's a review of the 2.5 mkII Twin Port speakers with Lowther PM6C drivers in the April May issue of Sensible Sound. Different and higher quality drivers but the same ported enclosure. As you predict, the bass is nothing to write home about but the system does have some other redeeming features. David can't make it to the GPAF so someone will have to build a pair and review them for us. Any volunteers?
