Hi Peter, I made a pair of corner surrounds using Fostex 167's. The boxes are about 1 cu ft. When used as mains, they don't sound 1/2 2 bad aslong as the loudness is turned on. Without it, they are a littlewimpy for the fairly big room. The ports is the back into the cornersdoes make a difference (more bass), so I can't say how they'd be in aregular ported box. I also made a pair of TQWT's with Fostex 207's.Now those thing make some real bass. Its not super clear necessarily, but there's lots of it.Chris
