This takes me back to a question I posed maybe when I was first getting into the hobby:http://www.diyaudio.com/forums/showthread.php?s=&threadid=47558&highlight=Can a folded design be compacted? When I was thinking of this I had a design in mind and then today,BOOM! there it was. somebody had made it. So can anyone venture an opinion as to whether such a design workswell and is practical? The sample graph shown in the article does not look especially smooth. But I've been trying to figure out a good home for the TB 871-S pair I have. The design originally given and built just has not been successful.
