

---

Subject: Re: Why won't a single driver speaker do metal?

Posted by Retsel on Thu, 04 Aug 2005 17:09:51 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

The highs from the DX4s are very good. I would still prefer a great ribbon tweeter though (i.e., like that from Maggies). For the open baffle system I am basing my system off of the Basszilla design by Dick Olsher which has a small ribbon supertweeter (Aurum Cantus) to augment the highs from the DX4s. It provides some air (reproduces frequencies above 10 k hz) but is not a requirement for great sound (in my opinion).Retsel

---