Hi I am looking to start my 3rd projct a 3 way design. My first project was the fostex fe206e in a ported box. Using 13-ply-plywood.To bright and up front. The 2nd projct is the 2 way stand towter formy dad usindg the same wood 2 sand chambers in the box one on top and one on the bottom dead box. I used a sea's soft dome and a silver flute 6 1/2 woofer very nice sounding it get's my 10. It soundswarm so it matches the soft dome perfect. I want ot build a 3 wayspeaker. I am looking at a ribbon tweeter like the ravens. I wan tohave the high's sound like my maggies mg 12's I have. But tone down the sound stage a little. Sold them because the midbass and bass was making a buzzing noise and rattleing. The company said beats themthey never heard such thing with teir speakers come on I no joe smoe.Well That's the top end part. The midbass looking for a 7 inch drive.Here are the one's I am looking at- Scan speak 18w/8545k carbonfiber/paper woofer-usher audio 8945a-seas excel w118ex-001-e017-eton-7-372/32lh-accuton-c95-t6 - fostex-fw-168hp-never heard the morel brand but, looking at the nm-267,8 inh the only one that is an 8 inchdriver or one more the new 6 1/2 aura sound. I have read it is a killer of a speaker. Now I want my mid's to be relaxing and naturaland have micro details and never bright or in your face. I can play(ALL TYPES OF MUSIC) I mean that to be the truth. Most speaker Ibought can only play a couple music types well not All. I Am looking a low bass driver maybe 12ichs to 15 inch. I saw the fostex w300alland w400all -usher audio -15hm speakers or how about the bully-15and ev-evx-180b or jbl-2226h or 2241h drivers. I am looking for a natural sounding low bass driver. When I tested the fostex driver ina open baffle before the box it had the most natural bass I had everheard and still does in my mind. No over hanging of bass notes orto much bass in your face just right. Please let me know what youthink? No it is not a b&w 801 or copying off them in a total diffrentdirction. If you have used or konw some one please e-mail me or withhelpful tip or just queations? Thanks jm
