This is a tough subject. It seems we are (to quote some "Rock Star") in "agreeance". I'll try to add more later but I just got back and have "chores". More on my position later regarding single drivers and the compromises and advantages that are not obvious but easy to hear and difficult to measure. And a detailed but rambling (I'm sure) reply to Martins post. And it won't be a "cat fight"! That won't happen regardless of my "reputation" for "stirring the pot"! We probably agree more than disagree when it really gets to the bottom line. We are all in this together.....and I guess the goal is to fire the stereo up and have it make us smile. Regardless of the means used to achieve the goal.Ed
