Maybe one of these days . I will come up and have a listen to the Horneshoppe speakers. Not into heavy metal so I will stay out of the arguments. I also don't listen at 100db ..so the point of them playing at blistering levels are meaningless too me.I do own the BB FTA-2000s and enjoy them immensely. I enjoy different single driver implementations..so I look forward to hearing your models. I find some of the Cain models to be nice sounding and beautiful to look at..but IMHO a bit overpriced.I'm just glad there are fellows like you and Mr.Brines that make world class sounding speakers and real world prices.Have a great weekend or what's left of it!
