Subject: Re: Two Interesting Responses
Posted by Jim Griffin on Wed, 14 Jul 2004 20:15:24 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Fred,See my reply below to Bill's comments on using other drivers than the ones he used in his design. The Linus 1 plans available from me for the price of an e-mail to those interested. Rick Craig also would likely fulfill requests as well. I would say that the Silver Flute 5" driver would make a good driver for a line array design but again this would be a new design. As I suggested earlier, John Janowitz at Stryke Audio likely will sell his planar tweeters for much less than Madisound or Parts Express which would help meet your boogie price. The Linus 1 would still be my preferred approach as it would be a proven design that can be duplicated without the builder redoing anything. To me that is would be worth the extra $50-75 versus coming up with a new or iterated design. Jim