Hi, I was reading on one of the forums that you have built the EROS. I'm now building the EROS and considering also building the Linus 2. I was hoping you could compare the two and the way they sound. I downloaded your white papers and spent hours or maybe days on the forums learning all I can about the LA. I've done an open baffle speaker using the EROS driver and crossover not yet named and no longer the EROS. Anyway they sound excellent, although they do need a sub. I got the idea concept from the Phoenix at http://www.Linkwitzlab.con/frontiers.htm. This was my first speaker project the EROS will be my next and the Linus 2 just because they look cool will be the third! Selah Audio Emailed me the plans. THANK YOU for all your hard work on line arrays. Will you be going to any of the DIY events if so is Linus going with you? THANKS again Cliff S
