Subject: Re: More thoughts on slot vs. hole for mounting array drivers
Posted by Bill Fitzmaurice on Mon, 13 Sep 2004 21:03:49 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I think you're envisioning having the drivers on the rear of the baffle; that would create untenable diffraction effects unless the drivers were low passed very low, say 1kHz. Other wise the drivers have to be mounted to the baffle front. Mounting in a slot is easy- it's making the interface airtight that's the trick.