Can any one tell me why more manufactures do not offer line arrays?Is the production cost too high verse price point in the market?Just wondering, with so many speaker company's offering speakers in every price range, why don't we see more line arrays? I have never heard a line array, but from reading Jim Griffin's white paper, and other information on the web, the line array, or quasi line array solves many issue in sound reproduction, not everything, but offers many advantages. Any line array owners in the Louisiana area?Tom R
