

---

Subject: What are the most important T/S characteristics in an array speaker?

Posted by Gene on Sat, 02 Sep 2006 13:22:31 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Since array designs tend to smooth Frequency response, and reduce distortion, it would appear that these are not the most significant characteristics when looking for DIY speakers to put into them. What are the most important ones? Perhaps sensitivity? High x-max? High Q's for a sealed box? transient response? What do you think? Gene

---