
Subject: The lazy Henry Kloss Array :)

Posted by hot.rod.audio on Wed, 25 Oct 2006 12:11:55 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

So, my wife is in DC for business, so I thought I'd perform a little experiment . . . moved my two sets of refoamed, upgraded (but ugly) Large adventures, KLH model 5's, and oooooold KLH model 6's up into the living room to try a Kloss Line Array. Sure, it'd be better if they were all one type of speaker, but their in the same family anyway ;) Listened to NPR Jazz Ala Mode last night, followed by The house of blues Norah Jones DVD. All I can say is HUGE SOUND! These would never pass the WAF, but with two more pairs of Adventures, or KLH, I could have floor to ceiling loveliness. MMWWAAHAHAHAHAHA ! Hmmmm . . . maybe build them into a false wall . . . course, if I went that far, I'd have to source all one type - probably Large Adventures, and optimize the enclosures & tweeter spacing . . . heh heh
