

---

Subject: Re: Rocky Mountain Show

Posted by Marlboro on Fri, 27 Oct 2006 16:04:34 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

From the responses, it seems as if the spontaneous reviewers had never ever experienced any kind of an array before. It seemed like they never saw one at all, like it was an alien that arrived from somewhere. One can only wonder how they might have talked if they'd had an opportunity to hear one that is electronically crossed, with a separate tweeter and woofer section. There is no wide range speaker that can do much more than 300 to 13,000hz adequately. What if they'd had a chance to hear real bass and real highs rather than just a mid range exposition? It does go to show how much an array can do even configured with inadequate speakers. Thylantyr has an amazing array where he used 49 cent midranges. Marlboro

---