Actually, all I want from an external sound card is one-for-one replacement of the embedded chip in the laptop. All it needs to be is a 2-channel in, 2-channel out. All of the embedded chips I know of are one, too noisy, and two, roll off too early at both ends. But I don't need a multi-channel mixer or high-end game interface. Just 2-channel music. Thanks for the link. Bob
