Subject: Enclosure construction
Posted by Eric on Fri, 30 Mar 2007 23:17:34 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi Guys. I was just parsing the forum and there seems to be a common thread with regards to the difficulty and/or expense of enclosure construction. I'd like to step up and offer RTA (or assembled and veneered for that matter) mdf enclosures if anyone needs them. I have 100 grand worth of machinery sitting idle most of the time, and if anyone needs to simplify their casework I can knock em out faster than most. Flush cut drivers, bracing, etc. ' Just thought I would offer. I don't know half as much as the scientists that regularly contribute, but my boxes are second to none. Happy to pass them on sans-profit if it will help anyone out.My Best,Eric