Hi James,I am in Colorado. You should build an array. I can not begin to describe the elation I felt when transitioning from 2 way floor standers to a line. Selah has some fantastic kits available. I can provie ready to assemble casework, as well as veneered and assembled units. I hope you pursue the array concept. It has changed my expectations of what a loudspeaker experience should be. Totally. I will pre assemble the cabinets and then break them back down for shipping. As Thy once said, " pretty speakers sound better."
