Hello All,Once again, thanks for the support on the WAF question. Looks like I won't spend any time in the doghouse over this one - thanks to you guys. Fred, thanks for the personal email and pic, the wife was sold when she could visualize them (she softened up when I showed her Marlboro and thylantr's responses, but the pic sent her over the top). Now that the housekeeping is out of the way, let's get to the fun stuff! I began cutting the panels for the arrays today. The sad thing is, I've been off all week and only got today to play. However, all panels are cut, and enclosure assembly starts tomorrow I'll post pics of the construction process if anyone is interested. As always, thanks to all of you for your help! Sincerely,Rich
