Back in grad school after 15 at work!?!?! I thought it was a pain having gone straight from undergrad. Best of luck.I really want to build the ART arrays, but I kind of got sidetracked with the Pi One project, which I just finished last night. I should have pics up soon. This was my first speaker build, and I really had fun. This was also my first attempt at veneering. I was actually kind of impressed with the outcome. I'm trying to finish up two Pi 3 subs next, so that's taking up more play money.My next project will be finishing an SV811-10 SET amp that I started a year ago. I'd like to post pics on you site. I have most of the parts ready, but just no time.....C
