

---

Subject: Re: my arrays

Posted by sunnyduce on Mon, 31 Dec 2007 19:45:51 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Hi Marlboro! could not agree more. I started my array venture with fullrange drivers, that peaked my interest. Then two way passive, 5 1/4 with domes. On too active three way, life is good now. Better still too come. Four way active. Heaven is here. People might not believe it, but I am with you. We live in a midrange world. Now I am in seventh heaven with each driver having its own amp. Cheaper than one good big amp. Got the little amp modules from Hong Kong, no bigger than a pack of cigarettes. 5 bucks each 7 watt output. It is a whole new level of performance. I believe that wiring so many voice coils in series and parallel does something funny to the sound, no matter how good your drivers are. What I have now confirms this. Sunny

---