Hi Marlborol could not agree more.I started my array venture with fullrange drivers,that peaked my interest.Then two way passive,5 1/4 with domes.On too active three way,life is good now.Better still too come.Four way active.Heaven is here.People might not believe it,but I am with you.We live in a midrange world.Now I am in seventh heaven with each driver having its own amp.Cheaper than one good big amp. Got the little amp modules from Hong Kong,no bigger than a pack of cigarettts.5 bucks each7 watt output.It is a whole new level of performance.I believe that wiring so many voice coils in series and parallel doessomething funny to the sound,no mather how good your drivers are.Whatl have now confirms this.Sunny
