Earl, just a quick interjection to help refresh your memory. You may recall this already, but maybe not. Akhilesh was at the GPAF, and has his PhD in computer sciences. He is a professor at TU and is a researcher and writer. Several of those you met at GPAF have advanced degrees, and you may not have realized that because of the laid back nature of the event.