Great thread, John. I think you're really on to something here. It's hard to strive for perfection, impossible to achieve. So it is easy to go to extremes either way. One can find themselves obsessively chasing the dragon, never satisfied and wasting efforts on minutia. Or they can find themselves giving up, settling for something that can't possibly satisfy. Seems the best thing to do is somewhere in between, but sometimes it's easy to find yourself moving towards one extreme or the other.
