Hi I am looking at the ribbon tweeters for my next speaker project. There is so many out there. I have heard that the ribbons get a little bright or tizzy some times. I want to be able to listen to music for hours with out getting the headache or the listening fatigue if I spelled it right. I hear the raven's are good but, they are redoing their tweeters. How about aurum cantus tweeters? I heard they are pretty good but do not have the detail or the airiness of the ravens. Please help me. Thanks jm
