Thanks for your input. I really need to do something about getting a pair of those; It sounds like it would be perfect for me. I was thinking about getting a set of wireless headphones in like December, and here is is end of April and I haven't done anything about it. But it looks like those would be just fine for late night DVD's in the bedroom. Haven't had time for much of that lately, hence the slowness in my action to get a set.
